

ST. ELIZABETH of the Trinity

MARCH 31, 2024

EASTER SUNDAY

He bent down and saw the burial cloths there, but did not go in. When Simon Peter arrived after him, he went into the tomb and saw the burial cloths there, and the cloth that had covered his head, not with the burial cloths but rolled up in a separate place. - Jn 20:5-7

I remember as a boy once visiting a rather well-off family friend to play at his house. He had many nice things like games, a big yard, and a tree house which all impressed me very much, though he seemed to be used to it all. His sweet mother had made us a nice lunch and then she was very excited to show us the homemade dessert.

She opened the fridge and there before us were two large dessert glasses with layers of chocolate pudding, whipped cream, and cookies on top...it was like something out of a commercial! My eyes went wide with wonder and as I was ready to thank this kind woman my friend began to whine and say, "But I don't want pudding right now!" I was ready to say to him "Be quiet you fool, or we may not get anything." On a deeper level I was stunned that he did not seem to value his blessings.

When we get too used to hearing or experiencing something, we may lose appreciation for it, no matter how wonderful the blessing is. Sometimes the truth that Jesus died for our sins and rose from the dead, might seem like old or boring news. So, the Church in the Easter Vigil Exultet must reawaken us to the amazing gifts Christ has won for us:

*"Rejoice, let Mother Church also rejoice...
Our birth would have been no gain,
had we not been redeemed...."*

*This is the night,
when Christ broke the prison-bars of death
and rose victorious from the underworld."*

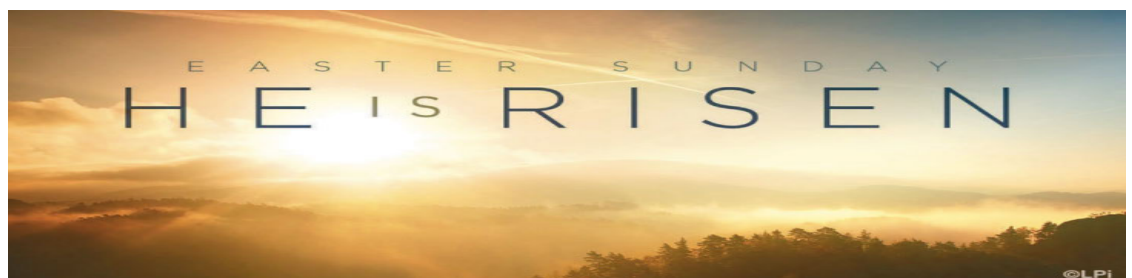

After Jesus died, the disciples were hiding, terrified in the upper room and probably ashamed for their cowardice in abandoning Him, despite all their boasting. When Jesus first appeared, He didn't shame them but offered them peace and showed them the wounds He suffered. We can also receive the Lord's mercy, love, and peace now. He came for you and me, by name.

Many people are living and dying deaths of despair in the western world right now, through substance abuse, distractions, anxiety, and even suicide. Many think they have no purpose, that they aren't lovable, and wrestle with seeing any hope. That is why Jesus came, to rescue us from the works of death and the power of Satan so that we don't need to be afraid anymore.

Because Jesus Christ is truly risen from the dead, we all can have a future full of hope. There is a light at the end of the tunnel. We only die once then we never die again, for Jesus Christ is risen. Alleluia!

Happy Easter,

Fr. Mike

Today as we celebrate the feast of Easter, we find the challenge of also seeing and believing the resurrection that comes through our own lives of self-sacrifice which brings new life to others.

As you place your gift in the St. Vincent de Paul Society Poor Box, know that you are a sign of God's love to those who are suffering and you give them Easter hope and joy.

Easter 2024

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

The resurrection of Jesus stands at the center of our faith. We believe, as Saint Paul says, that Jesus “died for our sins and rose for our justification.” He entered the very darkest corners of human existence, took our pain, suffering, and death upon himself, and then drew us into the fullness of risen life.

As we celebrate the Lord’s resurrection this Easter 2024, we are clearly aware of those dark corners of human existence that Jesus took upon himself. With troubled hearts, we watch war and violence unfold in the Holy Land, in Ukraine, in parts of Africa, and in our own city of Chicago. We know the crippling effects of climate change and the natural disasters that have affected so many people throughout the world. We struggle with the social and political polarization that threatens our life together.

We step back from all of this, and we can surely affirm that we need the transforming and life-giving power of the Resurrection. We also stand together as a church, a synodal church, that journeys together and reclaim our faith and trust in the power of the Risen Lord who makes all things work for the good for those who love him. We stand together in our often broken and wounded world to witness hope to all humanity, to proclaim that God’s life and not death will have the last word.

May this feast of Easter be a graced moment to rediscover and reclaim our great faith and hope in Jesus Christ, risen from the dead, who goes before us and leads us home.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Archbishop of Chicago

Step-by-Step Walk Through the Mass
Do This in Remembrance of Me, Part 34,
Collection & Procession
By FR. LUKE SPANNAGEL

It's time to pass the basket for the Offertory. For many people, the word offertory might make us think simply of the money offerings we place in the collection basket. While that certainly is part of the typical Sunday offertory, this is also an important spiritual moment for uniting ourselves to the offering on the altar.

The Collection in the Early Church

The practical details of this part of the Mass have looked different at various points in history. In earlier times, the gifts would typically be things that people brought from their homes. People would bring all sorts of food, along with bread and wine, and gifts for the poor (money or otherwise). These gifts would all be brought up and then sorted. The bread and wine were used for the Mass, some food and money were given to the priest to provide for him, and the remainder of the food and money were divided up and given to the poor. So, one can see that even in the earliest times, this part of the Mass was about offering and giving. In our modern day, to simplify the offertory, the ushers collect money. This money still symbolizes our gift: what we give to God for the Mass (bread, wine, candles, etc., are purchased for the Mass), what we give to provide for the needs of the priest and the upkeep of the church, and what we give to provide for the needs of the poor and those less fortunate. As the ushers prepare to collect the offerings, we can take a look at our lives, all that we have, all that the Lord has provided for us. We can show our gratitude and thank the Lord by offering a portion of what we have back to him for the good of the Church and others.

Along with the collection, the bread and wine (and water in some places) are brought forward, just as in the days of the early Church. Around the year 150 A.D., St. Justin Martyr describes this part of the Mass by saying simply: "bread, water, and wine are brought" (Understanding the Mass, p. 109). The gifts are brought forward by members of the faithful. Whether it is the ushers, family members who requested the Mass intention, or other parishioners, whoever brings the gifts forward represents the whole congregation, bringing forth our offerings to God.

An Offering of Spiritual Gifts

As we think about our practical or material gifts during this part of the Mass, we should not overlook the opportunity to also offer spiritual gifts. Mother Teresa of Calcutta was known for asking priests to leave room on the paten for her intentions. One priest also recalled her saying that she would place her heart on the paten so that it would be near Jesus in the Mass. If we think about this part of the Mass, offering the gifts we have in thanksgiving to God and in union with Jesus, it is true that one of the best offerings we can make is ourselves! Along these lines, Charles Belmonte teaches, "Together with Christ, we offer everything that we are and all that we possess, all that we have done or try to do. We offer our memory, intelligence, and will; our family, profession, hobbies, success, sufferings, failures, and worries; and our aspirations, [joys and hopes], and spiritual communions. Likewise, we offer our small and big mortifications: all those acts of love we performed yesterday and as many as we plan to perform today" (Understanding the Mass, p. 110).

If you haven't thought about the offertory in this way before, I encourage you to think about including your personal spiritual offering along with whatever you drop in the basket. It certainly is a great way to join to the prayers the priest offers at the altar spiritually and a great way to deepen our unity with the perfect offering of Jesus!
